Winning $100 Million for Affordable Housing in PA

Whether we live in cities, suburbs, or rural areas, we all have dignity. We all deserve safe, secure, and affordable housing. The PA Housing Affordability Fund (PHARE) was started in 2010 to create and support affordable housing throughout Pennsylvania. I have been the leading advocate for increasing funding for the PHARE program. Through my advocacy efforts, funding to PHARE will increase to $100 million by 2027-28. This is a major victory which protects your dignity and your right to affordable housing.

WINNING DIGNITY THROUGH THE RAISE YOUR PAY INITIATIVE

This year, my office announced the launch of the Raise Your Pay Initiative. This pilot program is designed to put neighbors in family-sustaining jobs. Since the start of the program, the Raise Your Pay Initiative has placed five individuals in higher paying jobs, and twenty-six additional neighbors have expressed interest in joining the program. Participants come from varied backgrounds – working mothers, immigrants, returning citizens – and each person is committed to achieving higher paid work for themselves and their families. One participant doubled her income after working with my team through the Raise Your Pay Initiative.

Participants have been connected with academic, career readiness, and/or employment opportunities at:

- Temple University Health System
- La Salle University
- Jefferson Collaborative for Health Equity
- Community College of Philadelphia
- Face to Face Germantown
- PA CareerLink of Northwest Philadelphia
- PECO
- Manor College

WINNING DIGNITY THROUGH HOMEOWNERSHIP

2024 Homeownership Conference!

Over 100 neighbors took their first step towards purchasing a home by attending our first annual NW Homeownership Conference. My State of Black PA report found that homeownership has slightly decreased for Black Pennsylvanians in the last decade. Homeownership is vital to building community.

We are reversing the decline in homeownership.
